DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

1. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 1-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

The language of the claims raises a question as to whether the claim is directed merely to an abstract idea that is not tied to a technological art, environment or machine which would result in a practical application producing a concrete, useful, and tangible result to form the basis of statutory subject matter under 35 U.S.C. 101.

Claims 1-15 recite a method that do not require the use of hardware to accomplish the steps and are therefore non-statutory subject matter since they are not tangible.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claim 16 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The preamble of claim recites an article and later in the claim recites method steps. It is unclear if the applicant is claiming an article or a method.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

5. Claims 16 and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent No. 6,487,566 to Sundaresan.

The applied reference has a common assignee with the instant application. Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art under 35 U.S.C.

102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) might be overcome either by a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not the invention “by another,” or by an appropriate showing under 37 CFR 1.131.

As best understood concerning claim 16, an article of manufacture for use in a computer system comprising: a memory (column 6, line 10); instructions stored in the memory for operating a method for determining whether a computer-storable expression matches a filter (abstract).

As concerns claim 17, a system for determining whether a computer storable expression matches a filter, the system comprising: a memory (column 6, line 10) for storing the expression; and a processor (column 2, line 41; 112) for evaluating a first code structure representing the expression for determining a value of said expression (figure 3, abstract, line

6), analyzing a second code structure representing the filter for determining the characteristics of the filter (figure 3, abstract, line 6), and filtering (figure 3) said value according to the filter characteristics; wherein said first code structure is constructed from a plurality of first programming language (column 3, line 8, XML) code structure elements and said second code structure is constructed from a plurality of second programming language code (second language can be the same as the first language code, column 3, line 8, XML, column 6, line 2-Java) structure elements; each second structure element corresponding to one of said first structure elements (figure 3, match, yes).
